

Over two hundred marched for Aruba Help! for Tsunami Victims

Tuesday evening two hundred strong power-walked their way past the Palm Beach Hotels from Tony Roma's to the Divi Phoenix and back to show their support for the Aruba Help for Tsunami Victims. With a 10-florin donation, they got a beautiful tee shirt and a lovely sunset stroll in the event organized by IDEFRE and the Aruba Help! Committee. The organizers were very pleased with the turnout, consisting of families, groups like the Healthy Living Club, and many tourists.

In the lead throughout was power walker Mario Maduro, leaving the pack in the dust. Valerie Camacho and the De Palm Tours Team brought up the rear as they solicited donations for the fund along the way, and brought in a nicely weighted container of cash. This is only one of many fund raising events that culminate with a bazaar and beach bash at the Havana Beach Club when all the donations and totals from the various fundraising efforts will be turned in and tallied. Let's see if they surpass their goal of 130,000 florin!
